

To design, supply and install a highly visual and robust cladding onto an architectural feature along with matching surrounds for selective openings.

Each panel was handcrafted to form the striking architectural structure in an alloy of copper and aluminium which has outstanding resistance to mechanical abrasion, extremely high corrosion resistance as well as exceptional durability, stability and material rigidity.

