

At the Vinden Partnership, WPL provided a cost-effective solution to the common problem of office staff getting too hot behind large glass panels that form the external façade.

WPL's horizontal Brise Soleil, supported from the curtain wall system, provided solar shading but also added another dimension to an otherwise flat façade.

